

Kathy Bernard and Barbara Kline
2BoomerBabes

As recognized “Spokesbabes” for the boomer generation, Kathy Bernard and Barbara Kline are co-hosts of the award winning 2BoomerBabes Radio Hour which broadcasts weekly on NPR affiliate stations. As young boomers, empty nesters, friends for a lifetime, and poster children for the sandwich generation, Kathy and Barb have created a tongue-in-cheek glimpse at the mega generation of nearly 76 million boomers—who they are, what they like, and what makes them tick.

Their show is an innovative, informative, and spirited talk program that sparks lively and down to earth conversations while providing a forum for boomers.

2BoomerBabes captures the essence of living the boomer moment from empty nesting, caring for aging parents, morphing bodies, embracing second acts, dating at mid-life, to grown children living in the basement. Their mantra? “We boomers are GEN2R—generation reinvention and rejuvenation. As active participants in this digital age, we’re the sandwich generation that’s not getting old or retiring anytime soon, but when we do, we’ll do it well. The best is yet to come.”

Kathy and Barb are sought after speakers for national business, association, and community organizations. Recently recognized as a top 5 offering in the boomer media scene, 2BoomerBabes has been featured in the Huffington Post, SecondAct.com, the Washington Post, AARP Bulletin, among others. The show was given the prestigious AP Award for Outstanding Talk Show of 2010 by the Chesapeake Associated Press Broadcasters Association and most recently, Kathy and Barb were named Women of Achievement for 2011 by Shore Life Magazine.

Kathy is a graduate of the University of Arizona, and holds a Masters in Business Administration. Barb graduated from the University of Illinois and has Masters Degrees in Education and Social Work. They are both proud wives and mothers of two twenty-something girls, who give “The Babes” much material, often without knowing it.
